DISCLAIMER

This is an independently prepared synthetic case study for educational portfolio purposes only. Revolution IT Consulting & Services Ltd., its customers, employees, transactions and supporting records are fictional. Any resemblance to actual persons, entities or events is coincidental.

All data, relationships, anomalies and findings have been created or stipulated for illustrative fraud data analysis. The results do not allege actual misconduct and should not be interpreted as findings from a real-world investigation. This exercise is not professional investigative, audit, legal or investment advice.

The materials are presented to demonstrate analytical methods and investigative reasoning. Reproduction or redistribution of the work without the author's permission is not authorized.